Summer 2024

The Ali Hasan Mangi Memorial Trust has built 3,388 toilets in 334 villages across five districts of Sindh.

Our small but dedicated team has pioneered this affordable, practical model.

At current rates, each toilet costs the donor Rs 21,000.

Toilets at home mean safety and better health for women.

Toilets are built with an attached soak pit for sanitation.

Beneficiary families put in the labour themselves and pay the mason's charges as well.

With the generous support of our donors, the AHMMT has built 1,768 homes in 215 villages of four districts.

At current rates, each home costs the donor Rs 100,000.

As with toilets, families put in the labour themselves.

Our homes are built with reinforced foundations on higher platforms to withstand future floods.

Our houses provide secure shelter for families whose homes were destroyed in the floods of summer 2022.

To date, we have installed 831 water hand-pumps in 117 villages of five districts.

Currently each hand-pump costs the donor Rs 10,500 to install.

A hand-pump at home provides families with clean water and means women spend less time fetching water.

Families themselves pay the mechanic to install the pump.

Help us help Sindh.
